

PROCESS ENGINEER

A battery process engineer is responsible for designing, developing, and optimising the manufacturing processes for batteries.

They work with a team of engineers and scientists to create efficient and cost-effective manufacturing methods for electric vehicles, consumer electronics, and other applications.

They are responsible for the development, implementation and optimisation of the manufacturing process for battery cells, battery packs and battery systems.